SAYS DAVID JACK

THE Olympic Games have ended — but as far as Australian Soccer fans are concerned, they still haven't started!

Judging by the coverage given to the Olympic football tournament by Australia's media, we could be excused for imagining the biggest sport in the world had been wiped by organisers of the Los Angeles Olympics.

Reports of matches were almost nonexistent. Even the bare results were ignored by the majority of newspapers.

Radio and television did no better.

It would have been amusing, had it not been tragic, to hear one well-known, experienced, commentator giving a rundown on the "marvellous" attendances at so many sports.

He broadcast a list of sports and the crowds they had pulled in. He didn't mention the sport which attracted the biggest crowds of all...Soccer!

Even before the semi-finals were played, Soccer had been watched by more than a million spectators, even though the USA is NOT a Soccer-loving nation.

How many Australians realise that a match between Egypt and France played at the Rose Bowl attracted 66,000 spectators?

How many know that the biggest attendance ever seen at a Soccer match in the USA (78,000) saw Costa Rica playing the USA at Palo Alto?

Even these huge figures were surpassed when the meaningless third and fourth place play-off was watched by 97,000 spectators and the Rose Bowl was packed with 100,000 spectators for the Brazil -

France final.

The average attendance at each preliminary game was almost 40,000. But Australian television viewers were fed Archery, Judo, Rowing and other such sports which had nothing like the spectator appeal of Soccer.

It is not only in Australia that Olympic Soccer was given the brush-off, the super snub.

Joao Havelange, president of FIFA, found it necessary to make a formal complaint to Olympic Games boss Juan

EDITORIAL

SOCCER likes to regard itself as an innovator among Australian sports and there could be good grounds for believing this is true.

It was Soccer which kicked off the switch of match days from Saturdays to Sundays, a move which followers of the other football codes now agree was logical and, indeed, essential. (In Melbourne, the VFL remains a Saturday competition but not entirely by choice.)

It was Soccer, too, which first experimented with matches under floodlights. Soccer also attired its referees and linesmen in the universallyaccepted black uniforms while other codes preferred the old-fashioned white.

But times have changed. Soccer now thinks it should slavishly follow the other three footballing codes with its end-of-season play-off series.

If Sydney City win their section of the National Soccer League, even by a 10 point margin, they will get no recognition for the feat.

Similarly, if the other division is won by Heidelberg, the current leaders, it will mean nothing.

Sydney City and Heidelberg would be labelled "minor premiers," an honour of transparent virtue.

They will then be grouped with another four teams from each division in a contest to decide the "true" champion team.

This is nonsensical. Let us assume the fifth-placed team won the top five series. That team would be accorded champion status, despite finishing down the field in the only true test of ability . . . the championship table.

In just about every country in the world, the team which finishes the normal season first past the post is the premier team.

Traditionally, Australian sport has its own strange way of finding its champions by using the top five or top four play-offs.

The system kills all incentive for a team to finish the regular season in top place. Why worry when you can be almost as well off by failing and finishing fifth ?

When ASW discussed these things with an official of the NSL, we were told: "This is the system used by other sports in Australia so Soccer must follow suit."

The obvious reply to that comment is ... why? Is Australian Rules, Rugby Union and Rugby League so much better than Soccer that we have to do everything those codes do?

We have nothing against a top five or top four series in principle. It adds an extra dimension to the Soccer programme at the end of the season and, in theory, should produce extra gate receipts.

The danger is that by upgrading this contrived end-of-season carnival, it is inevitable that the real battle, the true test of every team's ability, is going to be downgraded.

We mean the so-called minor premiership. If justice is to be done, it should still be seen as the major premiership.

This year, there have been many innovations in the National League. Few have improved the game. Indeed, crowd figures, probably at their lowest for 25 years, clearly indicate that spectators prefer Soccer as it used to be.

The sport is good enough to survive without borrowing any gimmicks from other football codes or from sport in the USA.

PENRITH REVEN

MARCONI, fighting to stay in the Top Four of the Australian Conference of the NSL, will be without their skipper Tony Henderson for Sunday's home match against Penrith.

Henderson is out suspended after receiving a caution in last Sunday's match against Leichhardt.

BY JOHN ECONOMOS

Marconi coach Les Scheinflug is likely to name Berti Mariani as Henderson's centre back replacement.

Rene Licata is ex-pected to hold his posi-tion on the left flank after being promoted last Sunday to take Peter Sharne's spot.

Penrith City will again be looking for another big match from big centre-back Davie McIntosh, who, like his team mates, wants revenge.

In the first round Marconi crushed Penrith 7-1, and McIntosh, who played in that match, vowed that it won't happen again.
"I marked Rod Brown that day, and he killed me. It won't happen a second time, I promise you," warned the giant 30 year old Scottish enforcer

McIntosh has proved to be one of the league's most consistent stoppers this season and is largely responsible for Penrith's excel lent standing of eighth position in their first year of NSL football.

Marconi, on 23 points, is just four points ahead Penrith City. But if Penrith is to do well against the home team they must win ball in the midfield where Marconi's Craig Mason has been supreme

AUSSIE GIRLS OFF TO CHINA

JIM SELBY, coach of the Australian women's Soccer team, released the squad of 15 players to tour China for a tournament to be held at Xian City from October 14-24.

New South Wales has the most representatives, with six girls selected to make the trip. Queensland is with four players.

BY JOHN ECONOMOS

Australia will depart for China on October 11, and spend a day or two in Hong Kong.

Following close on the heels of the China tournament, Australia has also been invited to tour Taiwan in late November - early De-cember, for the fourth "World Womens' Football Invitation Tourna-ment" - classed as ment'' — classed as the unofficial Womens' World Cup.

The touring squad to China originally was to be announced immediately after the completion of the Australian National titles, which are to be held in Canberra from August 28.

Julie and Susan both have enormous experience in the international arena

Susan's deadly tackl-ing from the centre-back position, and magnifidistribution cent when pushed up to midfield, knocking in lethal precision crosses, made her the "Player of the Series" in last year's Oceania Cup in New Caledonia.

Both Monteath and Dolan possess excellent organisational and leadership qualities, which would make either lady a captain Australia can be very proud of.

Selby flatly refused to give ASW a hint as to his choice of captain.

RE-SHAPING FOR

AN intelligible promotion and relegation system would be the biggest gain from the recommendations made by the National Soccer League Executive for the 1985 and 1986 competitions.

The executive put together its ideas fol-lowing the issue of an informative set of pre liminary proposals by League manager Stefan Kamasz.

The 1985 suggestions call for increased regionalisation in the vital and continuing bid to hold down long distance travel costs.

Brisbane clubs would gravitate to the "Eastern Division" the along with the NSW clubs.

The "Southern Divi-sion" would embrace Melbourne, Adelaide, Canberra, and possibly one NSW club.

In the latter case effectively two Can-berra and no NSW clubs would be involved if Inter Monaro of Queanbeyan gains promotion.

Divisions

Whilst Queanbeyan is strictly speaking in NSW its proximity to the ACT makes it a "Canberra club" to all intents and purposes.

The construction of the divisions' clubs would be:

Eastern: 8 Sydney, 1 Newcastle, 1 Wollongong and 2 Brisbane.

Southern: 8 Mel-bourne, 2 Adelaide, 2 Canberra (or 1 Canberra and 1 NSW).

Although there is merit in the six Mel-bourne, six Sydney NSL suggestion raised by South Melbourne president Leo Anezakis, it is not politically possible to introduce the scheme within the ambit of the League.

Clubs generally favour little by sticking 14 home games as a minimum, with stability of com-Clubs generally favour but the season is restricted by World Cup fixtures, which are expected to commence on September 29.

That means 22 rounds and final five grand finals. Fortunately the NSL Cup will be given due prominence now their mid-season internationals will be restricted to two weekends.

Sensibly the present games roster would return to the easily comprehended home and away system.

The present dif-ricult to understand relegation scheme would get the chop in 1986.

The top six clus from each division would become the NSL First Division

Nominations would be called from State League clubs for eight clubs to join the re-maining 12. The 20 clubs would be divided into Second Division, East and South, with automa-tic promotion and relegabelieve there should be a playoff with one club up and one down, as two changes in the 12 First Division teams per year would be far too disruptive.

One of the crosses that Soccer has to bear is promotion and relegation, a scheme that has brought at least as many debits as credits over the years.

FRANCE WINS L.A. OLYMPIC

FRANCE won the Olympic Games Football Tournament, taking the gold medal for the first time with their 2-0 victory over Brazil in the final.

There was a crowd of more than 100,000 at the Pasadena Rose Bowl for the big match, shattering completely any no-tions that Olympic Games Soccer is not impor-

The official attendance, in fact, was 101,799, emphasising — not for the first time — that the most popular sport at the Olympics is Soccer. France is certainly going through a purple patch in international football. The Olympic "gold" was a fitting main course in the recent European Championship.

In the L.A. final, Brazil held the Frenchmen to 0-0 in the first half, but in the second half, Francois erally re Brisson (55 minutes) and Daniel Xueres (63 minutes) scored the vital goals.

That double blow in only eight minutes killed South America's hopes.

At least justice was done when France and Brazil made the final. These teams had looked the best and most at-dessert following the tractive all through the tournament.

BIG DAVE BACK BIG-TIME

BY BRAD EARL

ONE of the success stories of Soccer in 1984 has been Dave McIntosh's return to the top with Penrith City.

"It's good to be back in the big league again and playing against the best players in the country," said the giant central defender who has been one of the Panthers' stars this season.

McIntosh last played in the National League

Trialling

At first McIntosh was trialling for a place in the NSL squad. Willie Wallace, coach of the fledgling club, decided to sign Dave, then selected him in the first team for the opening match of the NSL season.

"That was against Newcastle, and being my first game back in the NSL after three years, I was pleased with my performance," said the big fellow. Since then, McIntosh has regularly had strong games, attaining the consistency he's Why isn't the committee shot down for making the reckless or unsuitable appointment?

CLASS OF '81 IN THE ACTION

BY BRAD EARL

THREE members of the 1981 Australian Youth squad were in the thick of the action as Sydney Olympic defeated Penrith City 1-0 in a thriller at Cook Park.

Jimmy Patikas scored the winner for thirdplaced Olympic, team-mate Mark Koussas was dangerous in a central striking position, while on the other side, Ian Hunter netted twice only to have referee Peter Ramp-ley disallow both "goals".

Hunter and Koussas were star strikers in that fabulous '81 Youth Socceroo team, but after getting into a rut earlier this year they showed in this game that they can recapture their best form.

Hunter was a tire-less and threatening worker for the Panthers. He had the ball in the net in the 47th minute, but referee Rampley awarded a freekick against Penrith for a pushing offence.

While that decision was questionable, Hunter was caught offside when he smashed in a shot in the 81st minute.

Koussas was only included in the Olympic team when Nick Theodorakopoulos failed a fitness test, yet he turned in a performance that drew praise from his coach Manfred

Schaefer. Having been used as a wide striker this year, Koussas played with enthusiasm in a changed role as target-man.

Schaefer pushed usual centre-forward Marshall Soper to the right side to drag his shadow — big Penrith stopper Dave McIntosh - out of the centre of defence.

Koussas' best goal attempt was a blistering

Midfielder Patikas was the hero when he headed the ball home four minutes later.

Penrith players, already smarting from the first disallowed goal decision, angrily pro-tested that there was an Olympic player in an offside position on the goal-line.

Olympic had more possession, controlled by midfield anchor-man Peter Raskopoulos at his best, yet Penrith defended strongly.

Goalkeeper Mike Gibson pulled off two bril-liant saves — first when he caught a curling Patikas shot and then when he touched over a snap-shot from left striker Chris Kalantzis.

Panthers coach Willie Wallace was upset by the refereeing decisions which went against his team, yet could draw consolation from his side's perform-

SUGGESTIONS that runaway titlechasers Sydney City have lost their edge were backed up by the team's below par performance in the 1-0 win over Canberra Arrows.

Only a disputed penalty decision, which gave John Kosmina the winning goal, allowed Slickers to return home with the points.

In fact, Slickers coach Eddie Thomson admitted after the match: "We were terrible." Arrows, going through a worrying run of defeats, had two clear goal chances in the second half but failed with each.

First, Alan Reis should have scored and, later, in his first NSL outing, young Claudio Ciuffetelli, also had a chance to save the game.

Both openings were squandered, so the Kosmina penalty kick settled the issue.

SYDNEY'S CROATIA CREEPING TABLE

SYDNEY CROATIA edged within two points of a spot in the top five after defeating lowly-placed Wollongong City 2-0 at King Tomislav Park.

Croatia have not been beaten in their last four outings and coach Harry Noon is positive they can maintain their form.

"A few weeks ago we were labelled relegation candidates but the lads have proved the critics wrong," Noon said.

"I'm sure the team can pick up three or four points in our next two games against Blacktown City and St George."

Although the home side looked well in control after new import Zeljko Jurin opened the scoring in the 17th minute, Wollongong forced their way back into the game and were unlucky not to score—

Three minutes before the break, an attempt from close range by midfielder Peter Willis hit the Croatia crossbar and was scrambled clear.

Seconds after the interval, Wollongong defender David Green broke clear on the right and his cross was driven just wide by team-mate Scott Dickson.

This didn't deter Croatia and they continually pushed forward looking to increase their lead.

Croatia's second goal had a slight element of luck involved. A corner by Shane Clinch was headed backwards and into goal by Wollongong City's Larry Gaffney. Green made a desperate attempt to clear the ball just as it crossed the goal-line.

Best players for Wollongong City were John Flem-ing in defence and up front Peter Beggs, who toiled hard despite the lack of support.

his arm. Even so he had the presence of mind to recover and deny Dennis Duarte a goal from a strongly struck rebound shot.

This was a game which Melita started as the classier side, but they allowed themselves to become over anxious when Newcastle scored in the 22nd and 42nd minutes.

They came back at Newcastle, but whether by dint of solid defence, corner kick giveways or Gosling's command in goal, Newcastle seemed to have their measure.

Tactically, Newcas-tle managed to find or create midfield spaces when they were most needed, and they did well along the wings as Melita began on the wrong foot. Billy Griffiths, stripped and ready to play after a run of ankle injuries, pulled a thigh muscle in the pre-match warm-up and had to be replaced by John McKie before he could kick a ball. Neville Power netted first for Newcastle from a scramble, and a combination of Senkalski's brains, Ralph Maier's acceleration and a Derek Todd goal put them in a handy 2-0 lead at the break.

With Ray Farrugia, Col McAusland and Ken Wilson leading the charge, Wilson managed a goal in off the post.

But Newcastle blanketed out the rest of the Melita attacks. Then, one minute into injury time, Senkalski calmly laid a ball on and this time Dean Milosevic arrived to help it into the Melita goal.

BACK TO THE BAD OLD DAYS

BY TOM MCKAIN

THE clock turned back to the bad old days at the Olympic Sports Field, where Adelaide City beat West Adelaide 3-2, but not before the game had been stopped twice to save the referee and his linesmen from the wrath of invading spec-

At least two fans were taken away by the police, one for attacking referee Tony Martell, and the other for attempting to strike the white-coated officials.

The simmering started in the 14th minute when Wests claimed a goal following a George Konstandopoulos corner which forward Nick Malavazos headed, only to see the ball come out after hitting the underside of the crossbar.

West players claimed it had bounced over the goal-line, but linesman John Miller and re-feree Martell said "no goal" despite progoal" despite pro-tests from West coach the 62nd minute when Sam Salabasidis, who left the bench to appeal to Miller.

City were in the lead at that stage, mid-fielder Sergio Melta, having collected a pass from striker Peter Rankin, on the right to shoot across goalkeeper Gary Sproul and into the West goal in the seventh minute.

There appeared to be calm hanging over the game when West equalised in the 43rd minute with a Graham Honeyman penalty after City striker Joe Mullen stopped a Brenton Hiern shot with his hand.

Then chaos erupted in

Mark Gatenby scored with a header from a Mullen

Mullen and Melta "celebrated" in a manner which did not please the fans opposite the grandstand and spectators poured onto the pitch.

White-coated officials and players did their best to turn the 30-odd invaders back, but the game had to be halted for four minutes to allow police to restore order.

City hit their third goal in the 73rd minute when Melta lob-bed the ball over Sproul from a Rankin pass with the keeper stranded as West threw everything into attack.

Then it was a game again as Honeyman scored from inside the box after shots from Steve Papadopoulos and John Panagis had been blocked.

There was some cutand-thrust Soccer from both teams - and until the 80th minute, when Honeyman took a pass from Papadopoulos and netted what apeared to be the equaliser.

Referee Martell called a foul on City defender Joe Cecere by Honeyman and the invasion was on again - this time from both sides of the field as the play-ers scrambled to pro-linesmen who made for the dressing rooms via the underground tunnel in front of the stand.

The police, now reinforced, attempted to restore order with the help of officials, many of whom unfortunately started to argue with each other.

GREEN GULLY'S recent good results came to a halt following a 2-3 loss to Footscray.

Gully found the pace too fast and although they led 2-1 after the break they finally succumbed to their more ex-

Footscray's experi-enced defender Igor Ha-zabent handled the ball inside the area and referee Jim Fokianos awarded the penalty, which was converted by Carter.

Green Gully surprised their opponents immediately after the resumption with some incisive attacks, that resulted with them taking the lead in the 56th minute through Bob McGuinness.

Footscray's long serv-ing midfielder Vlatko Belic responded to McGuinness' goal in the 78th minute and levelled the score. A minute later Belic struck for the second time with a winner.

COMMONWEALTH BANK SOCCER CUP

HENRY KENDALL

HENRY KENDALL are slight favourites after their comprehensive 4-1 semi-final win over Woonona.

Coached for the seventh year in succession by Gerard Thompson, Henry Kendall have conceded only four goals in their quest for Cup honours.

Rd 1: Ku-ring-gai 8-1 Rd 2: Gorokan 3-1 Rd 3: Gosford 3-0

Rd 4: Macquarie 3-0

Rd 5: Bathurst 3-0 Q/F: Jesmond 2-1 Semi: Woonona 4-1

Thompson is confident his team can maintain their form by winning the big one. "We have a good blend of speed, skills and our combination in both attack and defence is excellent," he said.

"I think the team that scores first will have the advantage, but I think our strength all-round gives us a great chance of winning."

A majority of the Henry Kendall players have been together during the past couple of seasons. Five were in the same team which made the semi-finals of the Bill Turner Cup in 1982.

The best result the school achieved in the competition was during the mid-1970s when they reached the quarter-finals.

Three players in particular have stood out in the competition.

representative side and netted 16 of the 30 goals scored on tour. Defender Steve McCrohon, as well as being a tower of strength in defence, has pushed forward with a great deal of purpose, scoring five goals.

Although the Henry Kendall goalkeeper Glen Francis has been rarely tested throughout the competition, he has been flawless in every facet of his play.

Derek Caisley, a striker who has represented the State, has averaged over one goal a game. Earlier this year, Caisley travelled to Europe with a NSW McCrohon, Paul Craft, Ian Robertson (captain), Marco Cioffi. MIDDLE ROW: Gerard Thompson (manager/coach), Stephen Van Doorp, Derek Caisley, Lindsay Webb, Gerard Powell, Angelo Stanemeros,

EPPING coach Geoffery Wing feels the all-round talent of his team will see them through.

Wing, who has coached Epping for the past five years, said: "We have done very well reaching the final. "The side has no individual stars. They are a strong unit who are dedicated to winning.' He commented on Henry Kendall's strength: "They are very good side who play the game cleanly and at a fast pace. They have a skilful and fast midfield and

"I'm confident we have the talent to beat them," Wing added.

Epping's greatest run in the CBSC was a quarter-final spot in 1982. They were defeated by Raymond Terrace 0-2 away at Speers Point.

In their run to the final, Epping have recorded some excellent results against strong opposition.

The fine combination that the team has developed has been helped by the North Epping Rangers club. Four of the boys play together with this club on weekends.

It's interesting to note that midfielder David Svoboda will be playing his second Commonwealth Bank Soccer Cup final in succession. Last year, David played in the Kadina team which was defeated by Kogarah 1-0.

ALL eyes will be on Marconi Stadium this Thursday at 7pm when the two finalists in the Commonwealth Bank Soccer Cup do battle to determine this year's winner. The final will be fought out between two talented sides — Epping (Sydney) and Henry Kendall (Central Coast).

APIA PUTS ON A BIG SHOW

BY DAVID JACK

IT'S going to be quite a night at the magnificent Apia Soccer club in Leichhardt on Friday.

There will be a double celebration there and club directors are hoping every seat in the auditorium is occupied.

Apia will celebrate the 30th anniversary of the club's foundation and, at the same time, the 20th anniversary of Apia Leichhardt's first premiership victory.

Be sure there will be plenty of talk about the early days of struggle when the club was founded by a bunch of Australian-Italians who worked at the Kurnell Oil Refinery.

Oil Refinery.

There will be endless chatter, too, about the great Apia

"I would like to see ALL the old faces at this historic dinner," said Frank.

If anyone wishes to attend, phone the Apia Club on 810-0187 for all ner the details.

Nostalgia will take over with a vengeance when the players who helped Apia win the grand final in 1964 gather around the dinner

That team included Pat Hughes, Fil Bottalico, Adauto Iglesias, Stan Ackerley, Johnny Giacometti, Cliff Van Blerk and John Watkiss. It will be like a trip down Soccer's memory lane to meet the old gang once again.

Could today's crop of "star" players compare with the great names of 20 years ago? Perhaps. But Apia

Perhaps. But Apia fans will take a lot of convincing.

For instance, is there a forward around to match the deadly shooting of Giacommeti? Is there a utility player like Watkiss able to play full-back, centrehalf, wing-half or centre-forward? Is there a midfielder with the work-rate of Bottalico?

But we cannot put the clock back, although I am sure plenty of people at the Apia Club Anniversary Dinner on Friday night will

THE DEFENDERS

BY TOM ANDERSON

AFTER examining various sections of national coach Frank Arok's Socceroo squad in recent weeks, we now come to the backbone of the team - the department has been the strong point of Au-stralian Soccer — and still is.

Our players have always been well drilled and are physically equipped to stop anything.

However, since Arok
has taken over the fortunes of the Socceroos, he has added greater dimension to our defensive set-up and this has brought vast improvement to the national team defensive players.

He has achieved this by giving them a methodical grounding in his de-fensive beliefs and through strict tactical organisation.

Of course the main aim of any defence is to stop the opposition, win the ball and not to concede goals.

Thorough

Having watched Arok closely during training, I found his methods completely thorough.

This has proved successful against top outfits such as England, Juventus, Rangers, Manchester United and Nottingham Forest and will be just as success-ful against dangerous World Cup opponents Is-rael and New Zealand. Israel is a team that needs space to display its technique and if boxed in and pressurised by defensive groups, tactics employed by the Socceroos, then a great deal of the danger will be neutralised.

Athough completely organised, Arok always leaves room for change in his defensive tactics obviously according to the style adopted by the opposition.

Understanding is a very important ingredient of all defensive play and this can only be developed by continually playing together as a

Since taking over the role of national coach, Arok has been loathe to make changes and the desired understanding between his defenders is now a confirmed fact.

To be a defender in this present Socceroo set up takes a mixture of concentration, good understanding and disci-pline, as well as skill.

But a good defender does not ball watch and concentrates on marking his man at all times.

The two players hold-ing down the full-back positions in the national team — ALAN DAVID-SON and GRAHAM JEN-NINGS - are two of the most talented players in the game.

Both are modern day full-backs who not only guard their own goal but can be efficient and ruthless attackers.

There again, this takes a great deal of selfdiscipline from the player, for the cost of going on the rampage at the wrong time can sor-rowfully be counted in goals against.

Thankfully both Davidson and Jennings have good discipline and can play their roles effecti-

Davidson is the more creative of the two and he can also tackle well and position himself to great advantage.

Jennings is the thorough destructive wea-pon. When he makes his dynamic, surging runs for-ward on the left he rips the heart out of the opposition.

They also have the intelligence to know when not to tackle and when to jockey their oppo-

I would also include St George full-back DA-VID SKEEN, who is of the same mould as Davidson and Jennings.

And Apia Leich-hardt's IAN GRAY is also an accomplished full-back.

Now we come to the central defenders the axis of the team and the tall timber which can make or break any World Cup campaign.

Obviously you want big men here and Australia certainly has what it takes in this department.

King of the castle and the doyen of central defenders is St Geor-ge's DAVID RAT-CLIFFE.

Ratcliffe is dominant in the air and strong on the ground. He tackles as if his life depends on

Ask the great Trevor Francis!

Along with Ratcliffe you have the big bear STEVE O'CONNOR, who as I stated last week can also be used as a defensive midfielder in front of Ratcliffe and Charlie Yankos - as he usually is.

Big Steve and Ratcliffe combine to make a barrier of steel at the back and with this pair in action the Socceroo team is certainly built on a solid foundasweeper role CHARLIE YANKOS is the man who puts the nadlest puts the padlock on the Charlie reads the game well, has excellent composure and is ultra-intelligent when it comes to Soccer tactics and safety first.

Yankos has not put a foot wrong since Arok in-troduced him against England last year and is a player worth his weight in gold.

On standby for the central defensive po-sitions I would have Marconi's TONY HENDER-SON - who still can turn on the style on big occasions and a man who has great passion for playing for Australia.

Also well equipped to come in at any time is St George's MIKE O'SHEA.

Not only do they have the talent to handle the situation, these are the men who will be the solid foundation for hopefully an Australian trip to Mexico and glory

GRAHAM JENNINGS (right) holds off Rangers' John McDonald.

LET'S GO

WITH the hustle and bustle of full-time professionalism in England it's not surprising to see the indoor game increasing in popularity.

During my stay at Not-tingham Forest last season, I was lucky enough to go to the Wembley Indoor Stadium to see the highly rated five-a-side competition.

The competition featured many of England's outstanding outdoor players and it was great to see them showing their wares.

Such is the populari-ty of the game that two, or sometimes three, big tournaments are played during the year.

You may wonder where players find time to play indoor football con-sidering the English season is packed with games. The competition is scheduled not to clash with the domestic season or with the various European competi-

most skilful individuals and teams dominate the play.

Recently, Channel 9 featured the finals of an Indoor Soccer competition played before 9,000 people.

It wasn't surprising to see established players like Peter Shilton, Kevin Moran, Frank Worthington, Eric Gates, Alan Sunderland, David Armstrong, Brian Talbot and co playing in the competition.

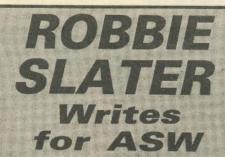

It would be great if we could have a similar competition here in Australia as I'm sure spectators and players alike would enjoy the

CONCENTRATION LAPSE

ST GEORGE's recent game against Leichhardt Apia once again showed our lack of concentration during the last seconds of play.

Although we were down 2-0 and with 10 players on the field, we bounced back to level the score. In the final passage of play a lapse in our defence allowed Arno Bertogna of Leichhardt to head the ball home from close range and collect two important points for precious competition

THE world's greatest attacking players show strength in one particular aspect of their game - dribbling.

There are three things to remember when it comes to dribbling.

You must approach your opposing player at the quickest possible speed with the ball close to your body. Secondly, you must try and force your defender to commit himself in making a tackle.

Lastly, don't slow down if the defender decides to retreat.

A good way to improve your dribbling, as well as your ball control, is to set up a straight line of sticks or rubber cones and dribble the ball between each

This helps your close-in ball control as well as fluency.

HARD WEEKEND FOR THE TOP TEAMS

IT was a weekend of mixed fortunes for National Youth League championship contenders AIS and Newcastle, who along with Sydney City had to play on both Saturday and Sunday.

Newcastle and AIS had to play their two games in Sydney. Marconi were the Institute's hosts on Saturday, but were most inhospitable by taking both points from the ACT boys.

Peter Sharne opened the scoring for them in the 16th minute following a corner and Robert Foster made it 2-0 in the 52nd minute with a 20 metre screamer.

Lou Hristodilous got the Institute's consolation in the 66th minute.

Jimmy Shoulder's lads had more success in their second assignment for the weekend (against Leichhardt) when they fought back from an early second half penalty setback.

After keeper Michael Runje had fouled an attacker at the edge of the penalty area, Vince Collagiuri netted from the spot.

However, nine minutes later they too were awarded a spot kick following a hand ball. Andrew Bernals penalty was initially saved by keeper Glenn Guerriero but not held and Bernal tucked away the rebound.

Warren Spink got the winner in the 80th minute, when he volleyed home the rebound from a Tom Burket shot that rattled the crossbar.

On Saturday at the Sydney Athletic Field, the Slickers and Newcastle hotly contested their deferred fixture.

It was a scrappy game with the strong wind con-tributing to the disjointed play of both sides. Neither team had any clear domination of the game although it appeared to be against the run of play when the Rosebuds opened the scoring in the 14th minute when Matthew Garland's dipping and swerving shot from a free-kick 30 metres out deceived keeper Jim Konistas.

Perpetual motion Johnny Foxman got the equal-iser in the 63rd minute when he blocked a Rosebuds clearance at the edge of the six yard box to see the ball rebound into the Newcastle net.

Melita Eagles jumped back into second spot with a convincing win over Newcastle at Melita Stadium on

The Rosebuds, no doubt leg-weary from their hard encounter with the Slickers the previous day, were no match for the livewire Eagles, who scored through Peter Whiteside, Lenny Vital (two) and Paul Andricopoulos.

Darren Stewart snatched the Rosebuds' solitary reply in the 58th minute.

Olympic continued its slump, going down 3-0 against the enthusiastic Penrith Panthers at Cook Park

Michael Toohey opened the scoring in the eighth minute with a 25 yard free-kick.

David Carbone made it two in the 34th minute when he side-footed home a Dennis Colusso cross, and David Shute made it three following a great solo run in the 73rd minute.

At St George Stadium, the Saints struggled to a 2-0 victory over the Demons in another scrappy game in which neither side dominated.

Saints goals were scored through Steve Zantides (penalty 18th minute), after Chris Polias had been fouled heading for goal, and a Polias snap-shot in the 80th minute after the Demons had failed to clear a corner kick.

Croatia continued its revival at the expense of wooden-spooners Wollongong at King Tomislav Park and took control of the game right from the start, never letting the Wolves in at any stage.

Steve Meades opened their scoring in the 35th minute from a Paul Kirwan cross. The winner grabbed one for himself when he pounced on a loose ball in the Wolves area in the 47th minute.

At Bruce Stadium, the fresh Canberra Arrows side proved too lively for the travel and leg-weary Sydney Slickers winning 2-1.

MONARO ON WAY TO

INTER MONARO look certain to take out this year's title and win promotion into the NSL after defeating second-placed Rockdale Ilinden 1-0 at Marco Polo Oval.

Although the season isn't over, it appears to be a formality for Monaro. Next week they are away to Manly and in their last game they play Avala at Monaro president Laurie Pastrello was slightly disappointed that his team didn't secure the premiership before this

"With the name players at the club it's a little upsetting that we didn't make sure of it a few weeks ago," he said. On his club's chances in the National Soccer League next year he added:

"I'm sure we won't come last.

Pastrello was quick to point out that Monaro would not be extravagant like other teams in the NSL and they would be budgeting between $160,000 to $180,000 in their first season in the competition.

During the first half, both sides shared the spoils but Monaro scored the winner in the 12th minute.

Walter Valeri, one of Monaro's best players, latched on to an attempted back pass by Rockdale's Billy Pilovski and drove the ball over the advancing Rockdale keeper.

Monaro were against the wind in the second half and were tested by a resol-ute Rockdale attack.

Strong defensive play by Mark Francis, Harry Williams and Phil Dux, playing his first game in the top grade after re-placing suspended captain John Santolin, kept them at bay.

Rockdale coach Iliva Takacs was upset that his team couldn't convert their goalscoring

Although Owczorek scored both of Polonia's goals, Kuring-gai had their share of scoring chances.

During the opening stages a shot from Andy Tracey was brilliantly saved by Polonia goalie Ian Barker. In the 15th mi-nute a header by Neale Williamson was cleared of the Polonia goal-line by Ben Divani.

BANKSTOWN NATION-AL are the likely relegation candidates after losing to highly-placed Manly 3-1 at Jensen Oval.

Bankstown, on 10 points, have only two games left. Next Sunday they face Avala, while in the last round they do battle against Auburn. Although Yugal are a point ahead of Bankstown they have three games left.

Bobby Pagano, one of the most consistent players in the State League, scored the first two goals for Manly in the 15th and 73rd minutes of the game.

Wally Apanian scored the home side's solitary goal in the 42nd minute after good build-work from Green and El Husseini.

With just 10 minutes remaining, Roy Jones sealed the issue for the Seasiders with a fine opportunist goal.

SAINTS SHOCK SHIRE

BY KENNY SANSOM

Supporters of Warringah Narabeen and Sutherland Shire left the Fitness Centre wondering why Saints were struggling against relegation after their super win over the Shire.

Warringah were determined to win while Sutherland were very disappointing.

The only time Sutherland looked promotion possibles was when a well-worked free-kick in the first half, ended in an opening goal for John Stoddart.

That was the only first half goal but the second half saw a very different Warringah.

Captain Billy Bulloch led by eaxmple when his two corners brought Warringah's two goals in the space of 15 minutes.

The first was put away by Dave Rylands with a header and the second was almost a carbon copy, with Alan Dean the scorer.

The home team could have won by four or five goals when Greg Griffin hit the post with a header and Kenny Sorge also rattled the post with a 25 metre shot.

Warringah's best players were Griffin, Sorge, Dean and man of the match Bulloch while Sutherland's top performers were Stoddart, Hargraves and Webber.

WARRINGAH: P.Dean. Mahoney, Collings, Rylands, Hanley, Sorge, Garrett, Griffin, Bul-Sandtner, loch.

LAST WEEK'S SCORER: Glen Jeffrey scored for Ku-ring-gai against Rockdale last week - not Neale Williamson as AUBURN URUGUAY recorded the first win in five weeks defeating lowly-placed Yugal 1-0 at Fraser Park.

The game never reached great heights — apart from the display from one player, Neil Parfitt. He scored Auburn's winning goal in the 53rd minute with a spectacular drive.

Auburn played possession football after this goal and looked well in control.

Yugal came close once when a Zivkovic header was cleared off the line by Auburn defender Slav Planinic.

YUGAL: Berry, Pahor, Marko, Tomasic, Clarke, Mihaljovic (Coldarevic 76), Jesic, Zivkovic, Rodas, Thamnidis, Tanoski. AUBURN: Rosano, Kelly, Gcekie, Watt, Planinic, Akoutas, Car-ney (Gale 83), Parfitt, Townson (OShana 69), Wright, Banales.

AVALA eased their relegation fears with a convincing 3-0 victory over Canterbury-Marrickville at Arlington Oval.

This would rate as Avala's most important win of the season and coach Steven Lalic was im-pressed with his team's performance.

Canterbury had the best chance to break the deadlock in the 21st minute when a shot from Spiro Hantzis beat the Avala keeper but struck the woodwork.

Gary Bateman put the visitors ahead in the first half, confidently heading home a Richie Williams corner.

Early in the second half, Canterbury striker Louis Dounnis almost levelled the score Avala went further ahead in the 66th minute when Ricky Budini vol-leyed the ball into goal following good lead-up by Bateman. Two minute la-ter Bratkovic sealed the issue driving the ball home from close range.

CANTERBURY: Konistis, Antonopoulos, Laws. Titilas, Efthimiadis (Karaspyros 60, Philipiou 70), Hantzis, Anagnos-topoulos, Vasiliou, Hall, Dounnis, Andreou.

SOUTH AUSTRALIAN Glynis Nunn winning a gold medal at the Olympic Games may have inspired West Adelaide to that sensational 3-1 win over South Melbourne.

At least that's the theory of West veteran Neil McGachey.

"All the lads could talk about before the game was the performance of Glynis," he said.

'I'm sure that gave us the hype needed to beat South.

SOUTH MELBOURNE were also involved with an Olympian. SA's Mike Turtur, on the way home, was in the same plane as the Victorians who got a first hand look at the cyclist's gold medal.

THERE appears to be some mystery about the non-appearance of John Kritikos in the West Adelaide line-up on a regular basis At one point we got three different versions as to why the 24-year-old forward, back from a three-year stint playing in Greece, was selected.

One said he had arrived late at the ground; another that he had a damaged nose which re quired plaster, and another that he was not yet considered fully fit.

TOMMY McCULLOCH may not be returning to Southampton after all.

The Youth Socceroo captain wrote to the English club at the end of last season but has not had a reply yet. But even if Southampton do offer him terms, it seems the Marconi midfielder would rather be trying to win a place in Australia's World Cup squad next November.

ONCE again Kiwi internatifonal Glenn Dods agreed to come out of retirement to help out Adelaide City coach Ed-mund Kreft for the match against Sydney Croatia.

This was because midfielders Charlie Villani and Sergio Melita were suspended.

"I have an arrangement with Glenn and it is good to know he is there when needed," said Kreft.

BRISBANE CITY may have had some mystic help in breaking their home hoodoo with victory over Parramatta Melita.

A club supporter, fed up with the continual run of losses and draws, employed an old Sicilian custom of casting salt over the ground for good luck and to chase away the demons. City officials refuse to attribute the win to this, but they certainly aren't complaining.

PHIL KERR

CANBERRA ARROWS have missed two players badly this season defenders Terry Byrne and George Christopoulos.

Byrne has been suffering from a severe inwhile Christopoulos has been in Greece trying to be-come a full-time profes-Christopoulos is back but will probably finish up with a Melbourne club. It is feared Byrne will not recover from his injury.

Peter Burke could have helped overcome the loss of Byrne and Christopoulos but when he broke a leg soon after being signed from Newcastle, Arrows coach Doug Collins must have thought nothing would go right in 1984.

At least Collins is honest about his team's failings. "If we can't beat a bad team like Green Gully, we're in trouble," said Doug after Gully beat Canberra 3 - 0.

WOLLONGONG CITY'S

Phil Kerr is already into Illawarra. Kerr, formerly with Corrimal, has strong links with the club as his father, Warren, was in the star-studded Cor-rimal side of the 1950s. Kerr says he is enjoying coaching the Corrimal boys but is finding Soccer takes up most of his spare time. He recently started his own courier business and has to train three nights with his Wollongong teammates and twice with the Corrimal youngs-

At the time, this did not seem a too-ambitious ex-

Recently, however, the average figure has been below 1,500 — or an aggregate turn-out of only 18,000. And even that figure is probably inflated.

It is not surprising many clubs call for a drastic change in the NSL format for the 1985

SOMETIMES a player has to leave his local district to get a start in senior football.

And that was the situ-ation with Wollongong

City's Scott Dickson. Dickson, who grew up in Penrith, began his senior career with State League club Polonia (based near Blacktown).

He got his NSL chance with Wollongong, and he is currently shining as a centreback.

Dickson turns his talents to Cricket in the summer, when he plays as a wicketkeeper for the Penrith club.

YOUNG Sydney Olympic strikers Chris Kalantzis and Terry Petalis have one thing in common.

At the beginning of the season they were labelled as definite starters in the Sydney Olympic line-up which would, hopefully, take out its first NSL title.

This was not to be. They failed to impress coach Manfred Schaefer and have spent most of the season in the youth team. It was interesting to note which players were amongst the goals in Olympic's recent 3-0 win over Wollongong

City recently.
You guessed it. Kalantzis scored two goals and Petalis the other.

SOCCEROO goalkeeper Terry Greedy was rushed back into the St George side after injury for the vital game against Leichhardt.

Greedy did well to get through the hectic 90 minutes. In fact, coach Frank Arok admitted after that Greedy was not really fit to play. At least, Arok is making a good recovery from a neck operation. "I can handle pain," he said, "but I'm glad the headaches have gone."

STEVE ATSALAS, West Adelaide midfielder who was fast reaching the "star" class, won't be seen for the rest of the season.

He has been forced to go into hospital for a knee operation and won't be making any miracle recoveries - at least not as far as playing in the NSL in 1984 is concerned.

MARCONI midfielder Craig Mason has been one of the reasons for the Fairfield team's reemergence this season.

At the beginning of the year, Marconi were struggling near the foot of the ladder. With the disbandment of Newcastle KB United, Marconi moved quickly to sign Mason.

His creativity and distribution have added a vital new element in Marconi's attacking play

In fact, a few ardent Marconi followers think he should join the Socceroos on the world tour in November.

QUEENSLANDER Kim Wishart's omission from the national "A" and "B" squads surprised many fans.

Wishart, a goalkeeper who dominates his penalty area to great effect, was in the Australian squad for the 1983 England series.

Recently, Wishart's Brisbane City coach Joe Gilroy suggested that he move south if he is to realise his national team ambitions.

Wishart said he would consider a move to Sydney or Melbourne if the right offer came along. At 27, he gives himself five more years at the top to become a permanent Socceroo selection.

SOCCER is frequently criticised for prolonging its season which lasts much longer than seasons in other footballing codes.

Those complaints are unlikely to be heard next year.

It is expected the NSL season will start in March and will be all over, including end-ofseason play-offs, by the middle of September.

The suggested September cut-off was inspired by the necessity for Australia's World Cup squad to have a short rest before going into Cup elimination games against New Zealand, Israel and Chinese Taipei.

Another proposal for next season's NSL is for the two divisions of the competition to be called...divisions! In other words, the abominable word "conference" is to be expunged from Soccer.

It should never have been brought in.

DON'T be surprised if South Melbourne fullback Bobby Russell returns to Adelaide.

The former Adelaide City star says that while he has no complaints ab-out South, he still prefers the Adelaide lifestyle to that on offer in Mel-

"If anyone wanted me I would listen to offers from SA," he said.

AUSTRALIA's first two matches in next year's World Cup eliminations are both away from home...in New Zealand on September 21 and Israel on October 10.

This suits coach Frank Arok perfectly.

But the danger is the Socceroos will have their morale shattered if they lose both games — and would be virtually out of the World Cup before playing any home matches.

PENRITH CITY have copped a couple of hidings this year - from Marconi (1-7) and Pre-ston (0-6) — but, as captain Mickey Cross points out, those results have given the otherwise solid Panthbackline name.

Taking away those 13 goals, Penrith's defensive record in the 24team NSL has been second only to that of Sydney City.

Cross is confident Penrith can make the top five, and he says: "We seem to play better against the top teams."

After Sydney Olym-pic last Sunday, Penrith's next two opponents are Marconi and Melita - all three teams currently in the top five.

THE Headmasters' Conference of the Greater Public Schools could approve the institution of Soccer competitions in 1985.

In all, 129 teams are playing at present dur-ing the almost four-month winter season.

BIG DAY FOR STARS

BY GREG RUSSELL

PREMIER LEAGUE club North Star faces the biggest day in its history when it plays in Queensland's Ampol Cup final at Perry Park this weekend.

Stars take on Inter-mediate League team Lions and will go into the match as

The northside club was set for a disastrous season up until six weeks ago when a sudden reversal of form saw them march through the early Cup rounds and to the de-light of club supporters even climb away from the bottom of the table.

The turnaround came after an 0-8 thrashing at the hands of Ipswich United.
Although Stars went into the match without three key players, who were away with junior rep teams, coach Jerzy Steckiw took the blame for the lose took the blame for the loss and resigned.

His assistant Iain Fagan took over the reins and North Star have not looked back since.

And while Fagan is confident his side has the form and class to beat Lions, most InterThe fact that Lions play in the competition below the Premier League will mean nothing on Cup final Lions could field a side with up to nine players with NSL experience.

Lions have swept aside some fancied teams to reach the final, including Cup holders Ipswich United, and club officials say their team is determined to win the trophy to prove a point to some QSF officials.

Lions, Premier League Grand Finalists last season, were relegated out of the top competition in the QSF restructuring

The club bit the bullet and finally accepted the decision after some heated fighting and vowed to be pro-moted back up again.

They have been locked in a

Premier League side Valley Trident for the one promo-tion place and the Ampol Cup is seen as an "insur-ance" just in case Lions miss winning the League.

Lions will be relying on their star forward-line of former Youth Socceroo Danny Wright, who has returned from injury in time to spearhead the club's Cup challenge, former Manchester United youth player Mike Mulvey and exciting young prospect Steve Fulton.

North Star's strength is its back-four, marshalled by sweeper Jim Hermiston along with the experienced Jim Cameron, Ian Gentles and competent youngs-ter Steve Rowell.

Up-front, young striker Jarrod Austin also could be a surprise packet.

Although no Premier League fixtures had been scheduled for this weekend, Mount Gravatt and Ipswich will play their washed-out first round match on Saturday at Ebbw Vale.

And so much hinges on the clash. The game will decide the President's Trophy for first round winners and could well decide Premier League championship and the much-sought-after club championship.

FANS WILL SHOOT TOO

ARGENTINIAN spectators play it rough as players of Rosario Central discovered recently.

During a training session, gunmen wearing masks burst in waving loaded revolvers.

It seems the intruders were Rosario fans making a demonstration of fire power because their team was at the bottom of the competition table.

The fans warned play ers that the guns would be used if Rosario did not get two points from their forthcoming

The shock treatment must have worked. A few days later, Rosario Central had their first win for several weeks.

AFRICA CALLS JEAN VINCENT

JEAN VINCENT, the Frenchman who was Cameroon's coach in the 1982 World Cup in Spain, has had offers to return to Africa.

But Vincent says he'd rather stay in Vincent was not successful - so he has left Rennes after only one year in charge.

ITALIAN TOUR

NOTHING goes right for Gordon Cowans, Aston Villa's English international winger, when he travels to Europe.

Cowans, who missed the whole of last season with a smashed shinbone he collected in a pre-season match in Spain, went to Italy recently for Villa's tour.

But he was unable to play due to injury.

It was not the Spanish injury this time.

Cowans had trouble with his ankle and this prevented his comeback.
"The leg has not been used for such a long time, it is causing prob-lems," said Cowans.

"I realise now I will have to work harder to build up the leg be-fore I can consider a serious comeback.

MUNOZ MONEY

ALTHOUGH Spain did not win the European Championship, their effort in reaching the final convinced the Spanish Football Federation that the tide has turned.

Team manager Miguel Munoz has been given a new contract worth a basic $120,00 a year.

Munoz has also been promised double the winning bonuses received by Spain's international players.

The contract will take Munoz up to the end of the 1986 World Cup in Mexico.

THEY'LL SELL

URUGUAY'S national team enjoys a rating "best in South America," so it's not surprising the country has been raped by talent scouts from many other countries.

Small in terms of area and population, Uruguay, nevertheless, has no fewer than 44 of its players with foreign clubs.

This makes the Uruguayans the world's biggest exporters of football talent.

Those 44 players are spread around thus: Argentine 13, Colombia Brazil 8, Mexico 4, Chile 3, Spain 3, Para-guay 1, USA 1, Greece 1 and France 1.

Maybe Australia, with Craig Johnston, Eddie Krncevic and David Mitchell signed by clubs. shouldn't complain.

FANS of a team in Chile have been giving their players a chilly reception, which is not surprising.

The players of Universidad de Chile have gone on strike.

They failed to show up for the first match of the season, claiming they had not been paid since May.

Universidad fielded a youth team and were beaten 2-0 by Rangers.

Players reckon the club owes them around $4,000,000.

WORLD

THE Brazilian Federation will name its na-January 1985.
The tip is it'll be Tele Santana, the man who did such a great job with the 1982 Brazilians in the World Cup before leaving for Saudi Arabia to make a lot of money.

DYNAMO BERLIN, drawn to play Scotchampions tish Aberdeen in the European Cup, are not happy about playing a British side.

In previous European matches, the Berliners have been eliminated by Aston Villa, Liverpool and Nottingham Forest.

They will not find Aberdeen any coventry city started last season like a house on fire but faded so badly, they were almost relegated.

Team manager Bobby Gould has been analysing what went wrong.

"I was to blame. I was very tired by midseason and really needed a break, away from it all," he said.

"Brian Clough is a past master when it comes to this problem. He regularly takes time off for a rest during the season and comes back thoroughly refreshed."

"I had 18 tough months with Bristol Rovers and then got straight into rebuilding the Coventry side. I never stopped and the price had to be paid," added Gould.

BAD news for Nottingham Forest. International centre-forward Garry Birtles is likely to be out of action until Christmas with the back injury which handicapped him on Forest's Australian trip.

BOBBY GOULD: took the blame.

VILLA MISS CASH

SWEDISH international Lars Larsson will be playing for Inter Milan this season — and that news will not go down well with Aston Villa.

Larsson was on trial with Villa six years ago but was rejected because somebody decided he was too small.

Inter Milan paid a fee of $1,600,000 for the Swede. That money would have been welcome at Villa Park

MO HAS A HARD ACT TO FOLLOW

MAURICE JOHNSTON, Watford's Scottish international forward, was one of the goal stars of last season — scoring 24 in 36 games after being transferred from Partick Thistle — but can he keep up the good work?

"Mo" realises if his scoring touch deserts him he will be branded a one-year wonder.

His own 1983-84 form is a hard act to follow.

Watford boss Graham Taylor had huge praise for the Scot when he summed up the season thus: "Mo was brilliant. What happened was beyond the bounds of what I thought possible when I signed him. I simply did not expect such an explosion of goals.

"He can do it again this season. It is up to the team to create chances because, if Mo

Johnston has been compared with Charlie Nicholas, who also travelled south from Scotland hoping to score plenty of goals for Arsenal. But Mo got twice as many goals as Charlie in fewer games and his transfer was much cheaper.

Now Mo has a link with showbiz. His girl friend is Coleen Nolan, the 19-year-old youngest member of the singing Nolan sisters.

The pair met at a Watford club where the Nolans were performing.

"MO" JOHNSTON: looking ahead.

SAMMY NELSON, assistant manager of Brighton, has upset the club's players by bringing out a book of rules for them to follow.

The book covers just about everything from training routines to giving TV interviews.

Most of the players believe the book treats them like children!

VINCE HILAIRE, who looked like becoming a super striker a few years ago, hopes to get back in the big time with his new club, Luton Town.

At Crystal Palace, Hilaire's game slumped while Palace slumped.

Walsh, who cost Liverpool $1,200,000, will not be missed if Hilaire turns on some of his old black magic.

WILLIE YOUNG has decided to retire and return to his native Scotland after being sacked by Nottingham Forest.

BOSSES DON'T STAY LONG

IF anyone needs convincing that team managers have a short life in England, just check on the changes in the past year or so.

Since the end of the 1982-83 season, half of the 92 clubs in the Football League have had a change of boss!

Lawrie McMenemy of Southampton is the longest-serving manager with one club, having put in 11 years at the Dell.

Next best among the long-servers is John Lyall who, this year, will complete 10 years with West Ham United.

And only eight managers appointed before the 1980's are still in their jobs.

HE'S FED UP

GARRY BROOKE, a more-than-useful mid-fielder with Spurs, is determined to get away from White Hart Lane and has spoken to a couple of clubs about a move.

Brooke says he is fed up with the constant changes made in Spurs line-up and has demanded a transfer.

"All I want is guaranteed first team football," he said, "and that is something I have been unable to get with Spurs."
